

JELICOE ACCUSED IN JUTLAND BATTLE

Pollwe's Book, Released by Censor, Criticizes Handling of Grand Fleet.

TRouble ABOUT SIGNALS

Chance Missed, It Is Said, to Wipe Out the Germans—Beatty's Plan Indorsed.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun and the Public Ledger.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A. H. Pollwe's book, "The Navy in Battle," hitherto held up by the censor, was published to-day. It appears likely, says the Daily Mail, that it will lead to a controversy, but the judgment of most will depend on the so far undisclosed signals which passed during the battle of Jutland.

Referring to the approach of the Grand Fleet under Jellicoe to the scene of action, Pollwe writes:

"Had all divisions of the Grand Fleet kept on their course at full speed until reaching the track of Beatty's squadron the line might have been formed exactly at Beatty's track. Had this line followed him as he closed down the enemy would have been completely outflanked on both ends of his line and even surrounded at its head. There would have been a half hour between the Grand Fleet getting into action and the failure of light, for it is impossible to suppose that at ranges of 11,000 yards the guns of the Grand Fleet could not have beaten the high seas fleet decisively.

Only One Choice for Von Scheer.

"Von Scheer could not have turned.
His choice would have been between annihilation or flight pellmell.

"Not only does it seem that some such deployment as this was manifestly possible, but it looks as if it was exactly this deployment that Beatty had expected."

The author points out that the despatches are silent about Jellicoe's plan, but the information they contain as to his movements suggests this is what happened:

"The Grand Fleet came in six divisions placed abreast of each other, steering straight for the Germans.
Then all the leading ships turned eight points, or at a right angle, together to port, so that in a very few minutes after the leading ship had turned the fleet would be in line at right angles to its former course, and if the leading ship continued on a new course the fleet would then be heading away from the enemy.

"The Grand Fleet had not formed up astern of the battle cruiser fleet. It had not come into action as a unit simultaneously; it had not deployed either on the enemy or on the British fast division."

Little Known of Night's Work.

Pollwe asserts that "very little is actually known as to what happened in the course of the night," and expresses surprise that the damaged and battered Germans "were not brought into action on the following day." He adds:

"Commander in Chief Jellicoe does not tell us of any search being made for the enemy at all."

Pollwe says he is driven to the conclusion that "the Commander in Chief assumed it was not our business but the Germans' business to resume the action."

HOOVER TO CONTROL ALL ALLIED RELIEF

Action by Supreme War Council Is Needed.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The plan for the appointment of Herbert C. Hoover, the American Food Administrator, as Director-General of Relief, in charge of the entire food and relief administration for the European Allies and the United States, has been given approval, it was learned to-day, by the very highest American authority. It now goes before the Supreme War Council for final determination.

The relief plan involves, besides the appointment of Mr. Hoover, the use of the large passenger vessels Imperator, Bismarck and other big steamships in German ports, for relief work and to help in the return of the American forces in Europe within a comparatively brief period.

The Supreme War Council, which will now pass upon the project, has been specially summoned to meet in London at the invitation of Premier Lloyd George. The council comprises the British, French and Italian Presidents and Col. E. M. House as the American representative. Col. House will be unable to attend, however, owing to his recent attack of the grip. But the American views will be represented fully and the council will have in writing the proposals concerning Mr. Hoover's appointment and the use of the German ships.

Mr. Hoover as director of general relief, would have a civilian position in relief work corresponding to that of Marshal Foch in the military sphere. Thus, it is pointed out, his appointment would be an extension of the principle of interallied unity of command.

It is said that the part of the plan which provided for the flying of an interallied flag by steamships carrying the relief supplies may not be put into effect. A large proportion of these relief ships will be American, and it is pointed out that the chief source of the relief supplies will be American.

Premiers Clemenceau and Orlando are on their way to London, so it is probable that the Supreme War Council will be convened on Monday.

Will Urge League of Nations.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—The organization of the League of Free Nations Association of Massachusetts, J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., temporary chairman, was announced here to-day. A telegram has been sent to President Wilson congratulating him on his "determination to stand in person at the peace conference for international justice and a league of free nations."

GARFIELD TO QUIT AS FUEL HEAD SOON

Will Return to Williams Presidency as His Organization Reduces Activities.

Special Despatch to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Demolition of the Federal Fuel Administration is near at hand. Within another thirty days, it was learned to-day, virtually all of its branches will have been transferred to permanent departments of the Government or passed out of existence. A small force, representing the amalgamation of some of the divisions and sections, will be retained for a few months to close up the affairs of the department and bring its work to an end.

The necessity for the department continuing has been largely obviated through the heavy production of bituminous coal during the summer and the warm weather of the autumn.

The removal of the fixed prices on bituminous coal, which were set by the President with the creation of the department on the recommendation of the Federal Trade Commission, and on the some limitations on distribution probably will take place in two or three weeks.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, who has served as Fuel Administrator, will return to his duties as president of Williams College. For some time he has been anxious to go back to his work there and feels now that he can do so in a short time without abandoning the interests of the public in so doing.

Preliminary steps to closing up the work of the Administration were taken to-day in the transfer of the statistical division of the Geological Survey.

The conservation division, which until four or five weeks ago was under the direction of P. B. Noyes, was transferred to the Bureau of Mines. Both of these bureaus are connected with the Department of the Interior. The Bureau of Mines also is taking over the engineering programme of the Fuel Administration, which has to do chiefly with the development of electrical power at the coal mines.

The Fuel Administration was organized sixteen months ago after Secretary Baker, in his capacity as president of the Council of National Defence, had repudiated the maximum price arrangement which Secretary of the Interior Lane had entered into with the coal producers. The Lane plan later was adopted in its funda-mentals by the War Industries Board.
Dr. Garfield before he was named Fuel Administrator by the President was associated with the Food Administration and directed the work of fixing the first wheat price.
